

Professor Gary Hutchison

Image of Professor Gary Hutchison wearing a dark suit and tie and a white shirt.

Bio

Gary is Professor of Toxicology and Dean of Applied Sciences at Edinburgh Napier University.

With responsibility for Life Sciences, Social Sciences, Psychology, Teacher Education and Sports Exercise and Health Sciences. He has a background in toxicity and particle toxicology. He is responsible for leading Nano safety research at the university and is member of the Hazardous Substances Advisory Committee for Defra. Dr Hutchison was previously a member of the NANoREG UK steering group and the UK Government Nanotechnologies Strategy Forum.

Professor Hutchison's appointment as a member of the COT expired in March 2025. His appointment term has been extended by 1 year ending on 31st March 2026.

Register of interests

An up-to-date record of member interests can be found on the Register of Interests page.