

General

Professor Matthew Wright BSc PhD

An image of Professor Matthew Wright in front of a white background.

An image of Professor Matthew Wright in front of a white background.

Bio

Professor Matthew Wright was appointed to the Committee on 1 April 2017. He is Professor of Toxicology at the Institute of Cellular Medicine, Newcastle University. His research interests are in liver injury, liver disease, environmental triggers for liver disease and developing in vitro liver models for toxicity studies. He has been an expert on the European Food Safety Authority's Additive and Nutrient Sources Panel since 2011.

Professor Wright's appointment as a member of the Committee expires on 1st March 2023.

Personal Interest

Category of Interest	Organisation / Body and Nature of Interest (period)
Consultancies and Direct Employment	Newcastle University
Membership	British Toxicology Society of Toxicology (US) EFSA ANS Panel
Miscellaneous	Toxicology - Associate Editor

Non Personal Interest

Category of Interest	Organisation / Body and Nature of Interest (period)
Support by Industry	GSK Lubrizol